Liane Moriarty

Read by Caroline Lee &
Geraldine Hakewill

Adult New Release

Psychological Fiction | October 2024

From New York Times bestselling author Liane Moriarty comes a brilliantly constructed story that looks at free will and destiny, grief and love, and the endless struggle to maintain certainty and control in an uncertain world.

Aside from a delay, there will be no problems. The flight will be smooth, it will land safely. Everyone who gets on the plane will get off. But almost all of them will be forever changed.

Because on this ordinary, short, domestic flight, something extraordinary happens. People learn how and when they are going to die. How do they know this? There were ostensibly more interesting people on the flight (the bride and groom, the jittery, possibly famous woman, the giant Hemsworth-esque guy who looks like an off-duty superhero, the frazzled, gorgeous flight attendant) but none would become as famous as 'The Death Lady'.

Not a single passenger or crew member will later recall noticing her board the plane. But what she did on that flight was truly remarkable.

A few months later, one passenger dies exactly as she predicted. Then two more passengers die, again, as she said they would. Soon no one is thinking this is simply an entertaining story at a cocktail party.

If you were told you only had a certain amount of time left to live, would you do things differently? Would you try to dodge your destiny?

Liane Moriarty is the Australian author of internationally bestselling titles, including Three Wishes, The Last Anniversary, What Alice Forgot and The Hypnotist's Love Story

Moriarty is also the author of the #1 New York Times bestsellers The Husband's Secret, Big Little Lies, Truly Madly Guilty, Nine Perfect Strangers and Apples Never Fall

A CASE OF MATRICIDE

Read by Geoffrey
Breton

Bolinda
audio
complete
& unabridged

From the author of Booker-listed novels

HIS BLOODY PROJECT and CASE STUDY

GRAEME MACRAE BURNET

In the unremarkable French town of Saint-Louis, the troubled Inspector Georges Gorski takes the case of a local woman who has called the to report that she suspects her son, a novelist named Robert, of plotting her death. Between the suspicious death of their dog, Robert's callous disregard for his mother's accusations, and her unreliable state of mind, Gorski decides to keep a close eye on their house. He visits with increasing frequency, trying to understand why – and how – a man might murder his mother. As Gorski's closeness to the Duymanns swiftly slips from curious to dangerous, his grip on the case – and reality – irreversibly loosens.

In his unmistakably Nabokovian style, in which the line between fiction and reality blurs and narration and truth are questioned at every turn, Burnet constructs an elegant, bizarre and destabilising account of the ways guilt moves between mind and body, suspect and investigator, and writer and reader.

Graeme Macrae Burnet is the author of Case Study, which was longlisted for the 2022 Booker Prize and shortlisted for the Ned Kelly International Crime Prize and for the Gordon Burn Prize

Burnet was named Author of the Year in the Sunday Herald Culture Awards 2017 and has appeared at festivals and events in the UK, Korea, Canada, the US, Russia, Estonia, Spain, France, Germany, China and quite a few other places

Burnet's debut novel His Bloody Project was shortlisted for the Man Booker Prize 2016 and won the Saltire Fiction Book of the Year 2016 and the Vrij Nederland Thriller of the Year 2017

The Gallows Bird

Barbara Sumner

Read by Annabelle Tudor

Downton Abbey meets The Secret River in this rich, engaging tale of a woman caught between two worlds, determined to own her freedom, no matter the cost.

London 1833. The cast-out child of an aristocratic mother, Hannah 'Birdie' Bird is a laundry maid with a hidden past and a suspicion that the wealthy family she serves is hers.

Longing for beauty and liberation, Birdie risks everything to change her circumstances. She falls into love and crime, committing an audacious heist. When she is betrayed, she finds herself swept into a wave of female convicts, transported to the ends of her known world.

The journey to the early Australian settlement drives the women to deepest despair. Birdie finds wonder in even this darkest hour, and forms deep bonds with her fellow prisoners. But greater than even the trials onboard is the fear of what awaits them in Sydney Cove.

What chance does Birdie have of beating the odds? Can she fight her way to freedom?

Drawn from the rarely celebrated true stories of female convicts, this striking debut vividly evokes a far-off time.

Barbara Sumner is an author and filmmaker. Her catalogue of achievements includes producing three highly acclaimed feature documentaries, a career in journalism, event production, television and being accepted into a Masters program at the tender age of 60

Sumner is the author of Tree of Strangers – a compelling memoir of adoption, loss and discovery

Sumner co-manages Cloud South Pictures, which produced the internationally acclaimed documentary This Way of Life, and is a graduate of the International Institute of Modern Letters

Living on Earth

Life, Consciousness and the Making of the Natural World

Peter Godfrey-Smith

Read by the Author

Adult New Release

Science & Technology | October 2024

The eagerly anticipated conclusion to Peter Godfrey-Smith's three-part exploration of the origins of intelligence on Earth, which began with the bestselling Other Minds in 2018 and continued with Metazoa in 2020.

Peter Godfrey-Smith, the scuba-diving philosopher, examined the evolution of sentience in Other Minds. In Metazoa he asked how that consciousness shaped and was shaped by animal bodies. Now, in Living on Earth, he takes that line of questioning a step further, asking, how has life shaped and been shaped by our planet?

He explores the last living stromatolite fields, examples of how cyanobacteria from the sea first began colonising the land and belching oxygen into the atmosphere as they photosynthesised the sun's light. Oxygen meant life, and so began a riotous tangle of coevolution between plants and new animals. And then, in our own evolutionary line, an initially unremarkable mammal changed in new ways, forming societies and technologies. This led eventually to change to the atmosphere itself, as carbon that was buried and transformed to oil was deliberately burned with life-derived oxygen, to power the elaborate world of humanity.

Humans belong to the infinitely complex system that is the Earth, and our minds are products of that system, but they are also an acting force within it. We are creatures of Earth, and we hold Earth's future in our hands.

Peter Godfrey-Smith is the author of the bestselling Other Minds: The Octopus, the Sea, and the Deep Origins of Consciousness, which has been published in more than 20 languages, and Metazoa: Animal Life and the Birth of the Mind

Godfrey-Smith's other books include Theory and Reality: An Introduction to the Philosophy of Science and Darwinian Populations and Natural Selection, which won the 2010 Lakatos Award

Susie Dent

Read by Louise Brealey & Jack Edwards

Agatha Christie meets Countdown in the debut mystery from the genius of Dictionary Corner, Susie Dent.

She'd known there would be ghosts in Oxford. Martha wasn't afraid of any headless horsemen, or nuns haunting the local ruins – it was Charlie, always Charlie she was afraid would find her.

When an anonymous letter is delivered to the Clarendon English Dictionary, it is rapidly clear that this is not the usual lexicographical enquiry. Instead, the letter hints at secrets and lies linked to a particular year.

For Martha Thornhill, the new senior editor, the date can mean only one thing – the summer her brilliant older sister Charlie went missing.

After a decade abroad, Martha has returned home to the city whose ancient institutions have long defined her family. Have the ghosts she left behind her been waiting for her return?

When more letters arrive, and Martha and her team pull apart the complex clues within them, the mystery becomes ever more insistent and troubling. It seems Charlie had been keeping a powerful secret, and someone is trying to lead the lexicographers towards the truth. But other forces are no less desperate to keep it well and truly buried.

Susie Dent recently celebrated 30 years as a co-presenter and the resident word expert on C4's Countdown, and also appears on the show's comedy sister 8 out of 10 Cats Does Countdown

Dent has contributed to discussions on Radio 4's Woman's Hour, Word of Mouth, Saturday Live, More or Less, Today and on Radio 5 Live's Breakfast and Drive programmes

Managing Expectations

Minnie Driver

Read by the Author

A dazzling 'tell-most' memoir – poignant and laugh-out-loud funny scenes from the life of actor Minnie Driver.

Managing Expectations is a collection of delicately crafted, hilarious and heartfelt essays, described as a 'tell-most', in which Minnie Driver uses her formidable storytelling skills to examine and understand her less-than-ordinary life. Suffused with warmth and humour, Driver shares poignant, candid and honest stories of her unconventional childhood, the shock of fame, motherhood, love, success, failure, the power of sisterly love and the loss of her beloved mother.

In her own words, it's about how things not working out actually worked out in the end, and how reaching for the dream is easily more interesting, expansive, sad and funny than the dream itself coming true.

When I was six, I wrote my first short essay, about how when I grew up, I wanted to be a farmer's daughter. My dad worked in insurance. Now, though, I realise how apt that ambition was. It set up a template in my life of wanting something impossible to become true. How in trying to make something impossible happen, and failing repeatedly, other things happened. Things that became my life. A life I love, because it was made with so many holes that I enjoy filling in.

Winner of the IPG Zebralution Audio Award 2023 and shortlisted for Best Narrator at the Audio Production Awards 2022

Minnie Driver is best known for her breakout role in Circle of Friends and the 1997 film Good Will Hunting, which reaped nominations for both the Academy Award for Best Supporting Actress and a Screen Actors Guild Award

Driver has appeared in numerous TV programmes, including The Riches, starring opposite Eddie Izzard, for which she was nominated for an Emmy and a Golden Globe

'She writes powerfully and without any self-pity about fame and the unpredictable life of an actor, openly acknowledging the failures and difficult times.' – The Irish Times

Children's New Release

Children's Fiction | October 2024

Set during the turbulent segregation era and the beginning of The Great Migration, New York Times bestselling author Kwame Alexander weaves a spellbinding story of struggle, determination and the unflappable faith of an American family.

Twelve-year old Charley Cuffey is many things: a granddaughter, a best friend, and probably the best pitcher in all of Lee's Mill. Set on becoming the first female pitcher to play professional ball, Charley doesn't need reminders from her best friend Cool Willie Green to know that she has lofty dreams for a Black girl in the American South.

Even so, Nana Kofi's thrilling stories about courageous ancestors and epic journeys make it impossible not to dream big. She knows he has so many more to tell, but according to her parents, she isn't old enough to know about certain things like what happened to Booker Preston that one night in Great Bridge and why she can never play on the brand-new real deal baseball field on the other side of town.

When Charley challenges a neighbourhood bully to a game at the church picnic, she knows she can win, even with her ragtag team. But when the picnic spills over onto their ball field, she makes a fateful decision.

A child cannot protect herself if she does not know her history, and Charley's choice brings consequences she never could have imagined.

The Astounding Broccoli Boy

Frank Cottrell-Boyce

Read by Ewan Goddard

From Frank Cottrell Boyce – the beloved, award-winning, New York Times bestselling author of Millions and Cosmic – comes a hilarious, heartbreaking and completely original middle-grade story about a young boy who turns ... green.

Rory Rooney likes to be prepared for anything. That sort of planning pays off when you're the smallest kid in your class. Rory is even prepared (mostly) for Tommy-Lee, his nemesis, who starts most days by throwing Rory out of the back of the school bus. Don't be scared, his favourite book says, be prepared. And Rory aims to be. What's more heroic than that?

But Rory isn't prepared when he suddenly and inexplicably turns green and finds himself stuck in an experimental hospital ward. The doctors are just as baffled as Rory is, and that's when he begins to wonder: what if this isn't caused by his genes, or a virus, or something he ate? What if it's something even more extraordinary? After all, more than a few superheroes' careers began when they turned green. Could this be a sign that he's meant for something greater? Rory is going to find out – and that's going to start with escaping from the hospital.

Frank Cottrell-Boyce is the author of Sputnik's Guide to Life on Earth, Cosmic, Framed and Millions – the last of which was a New York Times bestseller and was made into a movie by Oscar-winning director Danny Boyle

Cottrell-Boyce was announced as the 2024 Children's Laureate, succeeding Joseph Coelho

From Onjali Q. Rauf, the award-winning and bestselling author of The Boy at the Back of the Class, comes an incredible story about missing histories and the concept of a universal family, told with humour and heart.

As the only Singaporean boy not just in his school, but in the tiny English he calls home too, Leo witnesses – and feels – the impacts of racism every day. But on a class trip to a nearby cathedral, Leo's attention is drawn to a marble slab high above the doors of the hall. Right there, bang in the middle of a list of WWII war heroes, Leo finds himself staring at something incredible: his own name.

Desperate to know who this other Leo was, and with Sangeeta asking why women are missing from the history books too, the two friends embark on an epic search.

One that will help uncover missing s/heroes from the past, who each deserve to take their rightful place in the pages of history.

Current Affairs & Politics | October 2024

A powerful and thought-provoking analysis of Australian society from singer-songwriter Ziggy Ramo.

So-called Australia is built upon a lie: that 97% of the population are human, and the others simply 'Indigenous', devoid of the same basic rights.

Human? is the story of acclaimed Wik artist Ziggy Ramo's experience growing up under the weight of this lie. We've had 236 years of continued destruction in the name of 'civilised progress', under an oppressive colonial system that punches down on almost everyone. We all deserve more. But to move forward we have to be honest about the past.

Written on the precipice of becoming a parent, this is Ziggy's offering for the future – an attempt to bridge a nation-wide knowledge gap, and start a new conversation. Prerequisite reading for anyone searching for a way forward, together.

Human? is a book, an album and an exhibition by one of the most exciting voices of this generation. With his powerful debut, Ziggy asks: Would you still fight for human rights if it meant giving up your privilege?

A groundbreaking, provocative call-to-arms.

Produced with sound design and music for an immersive listening experience

Ziggy Ramo is a singer and songwriter known for his lyricism and story-telling ability. The son of an Aboriginal and Solomon Islander father and a mother of Scottish heritage, Ziggy's experiences with racism in Australia have led him towards activism, both in his music and in the wider world

Through his music, Ziggy aims to tell the story of Australia's true race history, so that we can move forward and find answers that will help us improve

Ziggy captured the attention of the Australian public with his single Little Things, a heartfelt update of Paul Kelly's 'From Little Things Big Things Grow' which put forward a First Nations perspective on invasion, intergenerational trauma and deaths in custody

FRAGILE CREATURES

A MEMOIR

Adult New Release

Autobiography | October 2024

A powerful debut from an extraordinary voice, gentle in the face of extremity.

Khin's sister Theda has a strange illness and a euthanasia drug locked in a box under her bed. Her doctor thinks her problem is purely physical, and so does she, but Khin is not so sure. He knows what they both went through growing up in Perth – it wasn't welcoming back then for a Burmese-Australian family.

With Theda's condition getting worse, Khin heads off to the United States. He needs to sort things out with his ex-partner. Once there, events take a very odd turn, and he finds himself in court.

This is a family story told with humour, wonderment and complete honesty. It's about care, truth and the hardest choices – and what happens when realities clash. How do we balance responsibility for others with what we owe ourselves? Fragile Creatures will sweep you up and leave you stunned at its power.

Khin is an award-winning singer-songwriter, and in the 2010s he won the Perth Poetry Slam and began publishing on masculinity and race

Khin started working on a memoir after his sister euthanised herself in 2013, following a protracted illness. His sister's diagnosis polarised medical institutions and communities

Khin explores identity formation, and how the boundaries drawn in race, gender and illness echo through life. His writing uses personal events to traverse polarised territories, without offering easy answers

'The miracle of this book is the writer's tone: calm, patient and searching, steadfast in the face of unthinkable suffering' – Helen Garner, award-winning author of The Spare Room

'Compelling and compassionate. Your heart will ache as you read Khin Myint's beautiful, poetic prose. Such wisdom and grace in these pages – an extraordinary story I will keep thinking about for a long time to come.' – Alice Pung, author of Unpolished Gem

Don't Take Your Love to Town is a brilliant memoir that will open your eyes and heart to an extraordinary woman's story.

Don't Take Your Love to Town is a story of courage in the face of poverty and tragedy. Ruby recounts losing her mother when she was six, growing up in a mission in northern New South Wales and leaving home when she was 15. She lived in tin huts and tents in the bush and picked up work on the land while raising nine children virtually single-handedly. Later she struggled to make ends meet in the Koori areas of Sydney.

Ruby Langford Ginibi's remarkable talent for storytelling grabbed the attention of both black and white Australians when she released Don't Take Your Love to Town, which has gone on to become a bestseller and is now a seminal work of Indigenous memoir.

Don't Take Your Love to Town won the 1988 Human Rights Literary Award

Ruby Langford Ginibi has also published My Bundjalung People, Haunted by the Past and All My Mob

Recognised as a spokesperson for and educator of Koori culture, Ginibi travelled and lectured in Australia and abroad, and her essays were widely published

'If you pick up this book, you pick up a life. It is as simple and as difficult as that. The life Langford [Ginibi] has lived in Australia is as close to the eyes and ears as print on the page makes it.' – The Australian

'Don't Take Your Love to Town proved the catalyst for Langford Ginibi achieving recognition as one of Australia's premier storytellers of urban and rural Indigenous life during the last half century.' – Tara June Winch, author of the award-winning novel Swallow the Air
