Tom Clancy The Coldest War

Jack Ryan Universe #47
M.P. Woodward

The US Navy rules the seas – not only above the waters but below. A large factor in that sovereignty is a network of undersea listening devices scattered throughout the world's oceans. Through these devices the Americans have been able to track every move the Russians make – for years.

Now the Russians have found a solution – to create a new ocean passage that only they can use. To this end, they have harnessed nuclear power to melt an icy passage above the Arctic Circle. Not only will this allow Russian ships and submarines to travel undetected, it will shift the balance of power among the navies of the world.

President Jack Ryan is faced with an insoluble problem. Any attack on the Russian icebreakers will be an act of war, and maybe even worse, because of the nuclear material being used, could lead to an environmental calamity of epic proportions.

Hollow Bones

Jodi Picoult

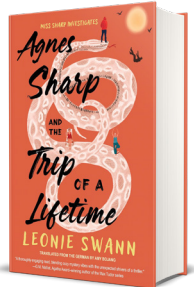

On September 11, 2001, when Molly Fitzgerald was only two months old, her mother went to an appointment at the World Trade Center and never came home. Her father and the stepmother who raised Molly couldn't have loved her more, but she still grew up with a healthy dread of disasters.

Now an adult, Molly runs the Rhode Island Department for Emergency Preparedness, mapping out ways to save lives during storms, epidemics, and airplane crashes. She and her husband, Jesse – a police polygraph expert with his own history of crisis – have found a love that is a solace in a dangerous world. But then the unexpected upends their new marriage, leading them both to question everything they thought they knew.

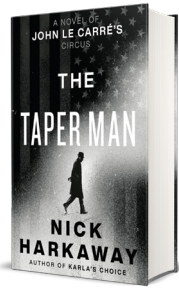

Moving between past and present, this epic story explores the lies we tell ourselves as we write the narratives of our lives, the plans we design to protect ourselves at the worst moments, and the ties that bind mothers and daughters.

The Big Cats Dance Party

No. 1 Ladies' Detective Agency #27
Alexander McCall Smith

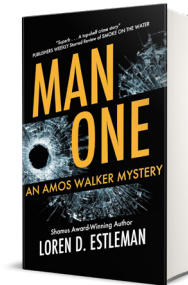

'I am a fortunate woman to have such an eventful life', observes Mma Ramotswe. Perhaps, but there are times when rather too much seems to be happening. This latest despatch from Botswana is certainly full of events, even if it starts with a leisurely trip to buy a pair of shoes for Mr J.L.B. Matekoni.

As often happens, one thing leads to another, and we are soon caught up in an ill-thought-out plan hatched by Charlie, junior mechanic and trainee detective. Charlie has met up with two rising stars of the local musical world – jazz players known as Lion and Leopard. He is keen to plan a big event with them, even though Mma Makutsi sees nothing but disaster ahead.

Mma Ramotswe would like to keep an eye on the situation, but she has to go up north, to the Okavango Delta, where her friends at an elephant sanctuary are battling with a campaign being waged against them. Mma Ramotswe's help is given with all the generosity of spirit that illuminates the character of this most beloved of lady detectives.

The Dying Light

A Detective Matthew Venn Novel #4
Ann Cleeves

A scorching heatwave marks the start of the summer in Devon. Detective Matthew Venn is called in to investigate a puzzling death. The body of a young woman, Lottie, has been found in the swimming pool of a luxurious holiday home, and Lottie's best friend Hannah, whose family owns the house, is missing. The girls had arrived a few days earlier to celebrate the end of their school exams, but had stirred unrest in the small community with their incendiary social-media videos mocking the place as parochial.

When further tragedy strikes, Venn and his team continue to question a community filled with secrets. The fact that Hannah's father, Paul Armstrong, is a rising political star with powerful enemies draws intense media scrutiny to the case.

With the summer heat come holidaymakers, and some of them may have stronger connections with the Armstrong family than first thought. Venn knows all too well that the real answers lie not in what people say, but in the silences that they keep.

Clive Cussler Obsidian Sky

A Dirk Pitt Novel #28
Dirk Cussler

When National Underwater and Marine Agency director Dirk Pitt rescues a team of archaeologists trapped in a cavern by an earthquake, a 2000-year-old silver scroll act is discovered. This scroll contains a message in a language older than ancient Phoenician, offering clues to a priceless treasure from antiquity.

While NUMA work to decipher the message, another mystery arises: a freighter has disappeared in the Mediterranean. When Pitt and his partner Al Giordino find the wreck, they discover that the cargo – a large-scale particle accelerator capable of creating plutonium and radioisotopes – is missing. In the wrong hands, its use could spell disaster.

It's only the first step in a perilous journey leading to a trail of drugs, deceit, secret technology, and a conspiracy that threatens the planet. The puzzle has ancient roots but deadly modern consequences. Only Pitt can discover the truth and halt the terrifying plan to extinguish humanity and turn the skies to obsidian.

Some secrets don't die – they wait.

When Julia Barlow loses her job and her apartment, she has nowhere left to go but Pemberton, her family's sprawling 17th-century estate in rural Massachusetts. Officially, she's there to check in on her ageing grandmother. Unofficially, she's hoping the old house will give her a place to disappear.

Instead, Pemberton begins to unravel her.

Every night, the grandfather clock stops at exactly 3.41am. The lights flicker without warning. And a disembodied voice cries for help outside Julia's bedroom door.

As Julia digs into the house's dark history, she uncovers the story of a woman executed for witchcraft in 1692 – and realises the past may not be finished with Pemberton yet. When decades of family lies begin to surface, Julia must confront a terrifying truth: Pemberton may be haunted by women whose voices refuse to stay silent.

Other Worlds than These

The Talisman Trilogy #3
Stephen King & Peter Straub

This is Stephen King and Peter Straub's epic and unforgettable finale to the Talisman Trilogy (which includes the novels Talisman and Black House) and a wrapping up of the fate of the worlds in King's iconic, fiercely beloved Dark Tower epic. It is also a magnificent standalone novel that will appeal to new readers as well as to King's Constant Readers.

Other Worlds than These is the story of Jack Sawyer, whom readers first met when he was 12, crossing America and 'the territories' to save his mother's life. They met him again in Black House, where Jack had to face a child killer and the Crimson King (among other evils). In Other Worlds Than These, Jack must stop a rampaging gang of infected teenagers from America-side, and the forces of the mysterious Gullet at the edge of Mid-World, before it destroys our world and all worlds. Jack is older now; his Ka-tet (echoing the world of Roland) is fraying; and his task, nearly impossible.

Wild Dark Shore

Charlotte McConaghy

Dominic Salt and his three children are caretakers of Shearwater, a tiny island not far from Antarctica. Home to the world's largest seed bank, Shearwater was once full of researchers, but with sea levels rising, the Salts are now its final inhabitants. Until, during the worst storm the island has ever seen, a woman mysteriously washes ashore.

Isolation has taken its toll on the Salts, but as they nurse the woman, Rowan, back to strength, it begins to feel like she might just be what they need. Rowan starts imagining a future where she could belong to someone again.

But Rowan isn't telling the whole truth about why she set out for Shearwater. And when she discovers sabotaged radios and a freshly dug grave, she realises Dominic is also keeping secrets. As the storms on Shearwater gather force, they all must decide if they can trust each other enough to protect the precious seeds in their care before it's too late – and if they can finally put the tragedies of the past behind them to create something new, together.

The Turning Tide

Scott Bradley James #2
Admiral James Stavridis

Pacific theatre of operations, World War II.

Scott Bradley James, like the US Navy in which he serves, is uncertain of the course he sails, both in war and love. While the threat of defeat that loomed over the first half of America's war against Japan is behind him, much danger lies ahead. Disastrous mistakes can still be made – and they will be. For James and his comrades, the cost will be high indeed – both at sea against a fanatic foe, and on the home front in relations of the heart.

Reminiscent of Herman Wouk's War and Remembrance, The Turning Tide fuses disparate elements into a masterpiece of historical fiction. It is a riveting account of some of the US military's most iconic battles. It is also a meditation on command. But what distinguishes this lyrical novel is its power to capture the forces at work on those caught in the whirlwind of war: their courage, fear and loyalty to friend and country in contrast to the pettiness of vanity and personal ambition.

Bullets, Biscuits, and Bloodshed

A Luke Jensen–Dewey McKenzie Western #2

William W. Johnstone & J.A. Johnstone

Dewey 'Mac' McKenzie doesn't have much of an appetite for bounty hunting. Before he was a chuckwagon cook, Mac had a price on his head – and bounty hunters on his tail. Nowadays, he'd much rather be stewing beef over an open fire than opening fire on another man. Then he meets Luke Jensen, bounty hunter extraordinaire, and reluctantly agrees to join Luke's search for a wanted fugitive. The trail leads them deep into Oregon timber country – and smack dab into a brewing war ...

Trouble starts in a saloon, with a knuckle-busting brawl between the Pine Knob loggers and the Triangle 7 Ranch cowboys. Luke joins in with the ranchers while Mac teams up with the loggers: a golden opportunity to search undercover for their fugitive. Mac steps in as the loggers' new cook, while Luke joins the cowboys at the ranch where the feud first ignited. Luke and Mac must step out of the frypan – and into the gunfire!

Jill Biden

Jill Biden became First Lady at a complicated moment in US history, at the height of the COVID-19 pandemic and in the shadow of the January 6 insurrection. These were the circumstances under which she set up office in the East Wing, where she hit the ground running. Throughout her husband's presidency, Jill remained a tireless advocate for her causes. She made history as the first-ever First Lady to hold an outside job while her husband was in office.

In View from the East Wing, Jill shares her White House experiences for the first time, in her own words. She reflects on the Biden presidency and its impact on her family. She brings you behind the scenes, from Camp David to Air Force One, from grading papers as community college professor in the Rose Garden to witnessing the abrupt end of her husband's bid for re-election. This is the story of a woman dedicated to her roles as a wife, mother, grandmother, teacher – and as First Lady of the United States.
