Robert Ludlum's The Bourne Revenge

Jason Bourne #22
Brian Freeman

Shadow – the head of Treadstone – has found evidence of massive Chinese espionage activity in the US. The spy running the operations is a shadowy American known only by the codename Bai Ze. No one knows who he is, but when Shadow consults the Files – the hacked AI database she stole from the Chinese – she discovers that Jason Bourne encountered Bai Ze during an operation eight years earlier.

The trouble is, Bourne doesn't remember him.

As Bourne hunts for the elusive spy, he meets reporter Laney Reese, who also lost her memory eight years ago. Convinced their pasts are connected, Bourne follows a trail of clues to a quirky billionaire and his ex-wife, both of whom may have ties to Bai Ze. As he closes in, Bourne begins to suspect that he's walking into a trap. But it's a trap with an almost irresistible bait – the chance to recover his forgotten memories.

Now Bourne must decide how far he'll go to get his life back.

Stolen in Death

In Death Novel #62
J.D. Robb

A blow to the head with a block of amethyst has left multimillionaire Nathan Barrister dead – while nearby, a vault, its door ajar, sits filled with priceless paintings, jewellery and other treasures. The investigators identify at least two stolen pieces among the hoard, and the crime scene suggests a burglar caught in the act.

Then it's revealed that the vault had actually belonged to the victim's late father and had been hidden from view for years. A recent renovation had exposed it. To protect his name and business, as his household explain to Lieutenant Eve Dallas, they'd been looking for a way to return the stolen goods anonymously. But now the police are all over their elegant house, and have a bigger, bloodier mystery to solve.

By all accounts, Nathan Barrister was a good man, a generous employer, a devoted husband and father. As for his father – he clearly had secrets. Now it's up to Eve and her team to find out if those secrets got Nathan killed – and if it was a crime of passion or revenge.

The Friend of the Family

Dean Koontz

The human 'oddities' in the Museum of the Strange are less wondrous than the gawking rubes had been promised. But Alida is something else. The real thing. Travelling Depression-era America from carnival midways to speakeasies, Alida is resigned to an exploited and lonely life on the road as the museum's golden ticket. Until she's rescued by two compassionate strangers.

Franklin and Loretta Fairchild see in Alida a gifted and uncannily well-read girl in need of a loving touch and a family. With the open-hearted couple and their three precociously imaginative children, Alida finds both. Yet despite everyone's overwhelming generosity and acceptance, Alida knows she is still a very different kind of girl. Her dreams bear that out: they're vivid, unsettling and threatening. Alida fears that they're also warnings. And that it's the Fairchilds who may need rescue from a bad, bad world.

Alida will do anything to help those she now holds nearest and dearest. Empowered with a purpose to vanquish evil, she will not fail her family ...

Wolf Hour

Jo Nesbø

Minneapolis, Minnesota, 2016. When a small-time criminal and gun dealer is shot down in the street, all signs point to Tomas Gomez, a quiet man with a mysterious past – and deep connections to a notorious gang – who has seemingly vanished into thin air. Other murders soon follow, and it appears Gomez is only getting started. Meanwhile, Bob Oz, a down-and-out suspended police officer with a dubious past of his own, becomes fascinated by the case: he is obsessed with the notion of hunting down a serial killer who only he can understand, a killer with a story as tragic as his own.

Minneapolis, Minnesota, 2022. An enigmatic Norwegian man with ties to Minneapolis – a self-described crime writer – has travelled to the United States to research the Gomez case, in the hopes of writing a book about it. But as his investigation progresses, the writer's seemingly neutral position reveals itself to be more complicated than the reader is initially led to believe.

Woman Down

Colleen Hoover

Her words used to set the page on fire. But a viral backlash over her latest film adaptation forced Petra Rose to take a hiatus, resulting in missed deadlines and an overdue mortgage. Branded a fraud and fame-hungry opportunist, she learned the hard way what happens when the internet turns on you.

Now, with her next suspense novel outlined and savings nearly gone, Petra retreats to a secluded lakeside cabin – her last-ditch attempt to save her career and herself.

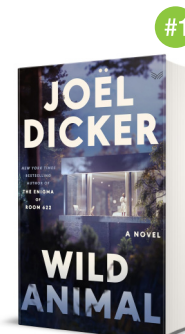

Then he shows up.

Detective Nathaniel Saint arrives with disturbing news, igniting a creativity Petra thought long since burned out. Her fictional cop character begins to mirror the very real cop who's becoming her muse.

Their 'research' sessions blur the lines between fantasy and reality. Each glance, every touch pulls Petra deeper into a world she thought she'd never lose herself in again.

When Saint starts taking his role a little too seriously, Petra's forced to confront the chaos she created.

Jigsaw

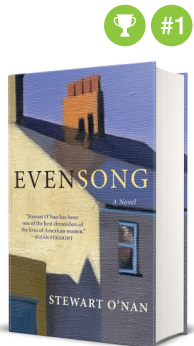

An Alex Delaware Novel #41
Jonathan Kellerman

This one looked like a slam dunk: a young woman found dead at her kitchen table; DNA on cigarette butts linking quickly to an ex-boyfriend with a criminal record. Or so homicide lieutenant Milo Sturgis thought. Then everything changed and a quick close turned into a mind-bending whodunit. That's when Milo called in psychologist Alex Delaware, his best friend and a long-term consultant on 'those cases'. The ones that are different.

Then there's another one: an old woman found brutally murdered, her body stashed in a deep freeze and mutilated. When Milo learns who she is, he's stunned – the victim is someone he once knew. Complicating matters further, her home is an extreme hoarder's den, virtually impassable due to years of stored trash and apparently meaningless objects. Except for the envelopes of cash stashed among the garbage. As Alex and Milo dig deeper into the seemingly unrelated crimes, they discover shocking links between the victims and realise they have a labyrinthine – and deadly – puzzle to solve.

Heather Graham

The Harper and the Wells families have regarded each other with suspicion for four generations. The Harpers have been known to offer their psychic talents for less-than-legal purposes, and the powerful Wells clan has a reputation for playing both sides of the street. But for all the years of history and distrust, a mysterious pact binds them to protect a long-buried and dangerous secret.

Sophy Harper and Luke Wells are shocked to learn that her aunt and his uncle have been sleeping together – and now they are both missing. The last traces of them are at the scene of a murder soaked in negative paranormal energy. Clearly, someone is willing to kill to obtain the secret their families have been charged with protecting. Despite their mutual distrust, they both know that the pact must be honoured.

Their investigation uncovers a psychic trail leading to a bizarre desert art colony where nothing is as it seems. But Luke and Sophy are concealing secrets, too. By fate, they have no choice but to trust each other – and the fierce attraction binding them.

Dead Broke Colorado #2
William W. Johnstone & J.A. Johnstone

Ever since the silver market crashed, the mining town of Dead Broke has been awfully quiet. The local marshal – legendary gunman Duncan ‘Mick’ MacMicking – doesn’t have much to do besides outshoot the occasional greenhorn looking to challenge him. But all this peace and quiet is about to end. After getting trapped in a cave-in, Mayor Nugget unearths a mineral to rival his famous ‘Hope Diamond of Silver’. He calls it the ‘Liberty Bell of Zinc’, a massive boulder of pure zinc carbonate. But when word of his discovery gets out, the quiet little boomtown of Dead Broke goes boom – again – with a vengeance ...

A scheming banker shows up to cash in on Nugget’s prize. Then an outlaw gang arrives to rob the bank. After a blood-soaked shootout, Marshal Duncan decides he’d better get that big rock out of town before more people die. But with every greedy sidewinder in the West tipped off to their train, once the shooting starts, this ride will be dead on arrival ...
