Chain Reaction

Jack Reacher #31

Lee Child & Andrew Child

Jack Reacher is hard to find. It's not easy to track him down. And he likes it that way. But General Susan Turner, based deep inside the Pentagon, has the means and the motive. She needs his help. A member of her team has been brutally murdered on covert duty. She can't trust anyone she works with, not even her deputy. She needs someone from the outside. Someone who solves problems and disappears without a trace.

Reacher heads to Summertown, Colorado. A town as remote and bizarre as it gets. One diner, one motel, five massive data centres, two giant solar farms humming away in the dust. Total population: four people. And one of them is watching him. But Reacher isn't built to run. He's built to finish things. General Turner knows that if they come for Reacher, they'll regret it – all the way to the top of the chain.

Fury in Death

In Death Novel #63
J.D. Robb

NYSPD lieutenant Eve Dallas never knows what to expect when she gets word of a body. It could be an elderly man who made the mistake of climbing a ladder in slippery footwear. And the next call could be a wealthy biotech executive beaten to death in his home office – but what was Larry Chu's mistake?

The victim's corpse is so mangled and damaged it's hard to believe a lone, unarmed assailant could have managed it. The killer was clearly unnaturally strong – and smart enough to find a way into Chu's highly secure building. Most of all, whoever did this was very, very angry.

The excessive violence leads Dallas to conclude that this was a deeply personal act. But she can't ignore the suspicious bank account in the Cayman Islands, or the shadowy, profit-hungry company Chu worked for. The mystery only grows when it turns out Chu isn't the only victim. Dallas will need to tear through one layer of secrecy after another to reveal what lies behind this explosion of fury ...

The Boat House

Twin Lights #2
Fern Michaels

An unexpected inheritance from their late uncle brought Madison (Taylor) Wainwright and her brother Lincoln to Smuggler's Cove. But it's the quirky, close-knit locals who've convinced them to stay for the summer. The little town may be worlds away from the privileged existence the siblings knew before their father was arrested for fraud, but here, they've found a sense of belonging.

After renovating the dilapidated boat house that once served as a local marina for crabbers and clambers, Madison and Lincoln are settling in for a true Jersey Shore summer, complete with the town's famous Seafood Festival. Visitors love learning about the area's history – the tales of pirates and privateers, cryptic maps and buried treasure. Those stories seem like harmless fantasy until a seemingly worthless map is stolen from their boathouse.

As Madison and Lincoln dig deeper, they learn that the legends underpinning Smuggler's Cove's history may also have the power to tear it apart, unless they can quickly separate fiction from fact, and guilty from innocent ...

Frost and Venom

Christine Feehan

Surgical and trauma nurse Harlow Frye loves the small town of Knightly, where breathtaking views of the Sierra and a tight circle of female friends provide a refuge from her professional life. But lately, it's Harlow's personal life that's causing all the chaos.

First, a series of anonymous threatening letters are left in her mailbox. Then Harlow is dealt a blow when her friend Lawyer dies after reacting to some sort of toxin. And to top it off, Harlow finds her secret obsession, CIA operative Hawkin Wilder, bleeding out on a mountain trail.

As Harlow turns her home into a makeshift hospital, her infuriating, attractive patient insists on distracting her. But then another person close to her is struck down by the mysterious toxin.

With little more than intuition to go on, Harlow turns to the five friends who have proved themselves to be a better family than her own flesh and blood. As the women attempt to unravel the killings, they will need to rely on their instincts and their connection to each other – or else they'll lose everything they've come to hold dear.

A Date with Santa

Debbie Macomber

For single career woman Clare Madison, Christmas means pre-made cookies and artificial trees. But when her sister needs her help, Clare volunteers to care for her six-year-old nephew, Ricky.

Determined to give Ricky a memorable Christmas, Clare enlists help from her best friend Erica, who loves kids, and her colleague Ethan, who agrees to dress up as Santa ... but only if Clare goes on a date with him.

As Clare navigates the challenges of caring for her nephew and the prospect of romance with Ethan, she begins to discover the true magic of the holiday season. Ethan's bond with Ricky and his kindness towards Clare bring unexpected joy and new adventures – filled with ice skating, baking and a sense of fulfilment she never expected.

But when her old life threatens to interfere with the festivities, Clare must decide what she truly wants before the season's magic slips away.

They Say a Girl Died Here

Sarah Pinborough

Anna Maybourne never imagined herself living in a place like Harper's Creek, a nowhere town full of dusty farmland plagued by drought. It's supposed to be a new start for her and her family, but Anna feels stuck in place – working a part-time job, watching her little sister grow up, and taking care of her grandmother with dementia. The only interesting thing about her new town, it seems, is the unsolved string of grisly murders attributed to a killer called the Farmhandman.

Along with outspoken loner Melissa Laverne and handsome deputy Todd Greenbough, Anna fills her hours by researching the town's darkest curiosity – but the Farmhandman murders begin to feel too close for comfort as the anniversary nears. Tension is building in Harper's Creek, and everyone can feel it. The house is becoming more claustrophobic by the day, and her grandmother is growing stranger. Anna begins to wonder if her delusional moments are somehow the key to discovering the truth about the murders, and if the old house, and her new start, is haunted by its own bloody baggage.

Black House

The Talisman Trilogy #2
Stephen King & Peter Straub

Twenty years ago, a boy named Jack Sawyer travelled to a parallel universe called the Territories to save his mother from an agonising death that would have brought cataclysm to the other world. Now Jack is a retired Los Angeles homicide detective living in the nearly non-existent hamlet of Tamarack, Wisconsin. He has no recollection of his experiences in the Territories, and left the police force when an odd event threatened to awaken those memories.

When a series of gruesome murders occur in western Wisconsin, Jack's buddy, the local chief of police, begs Jack to help the inexperienced force find him. But are these new killings merely the work of a disturbed individual, or has a mysterious and malignant force been unleashed in this quiet town? What causes Jack's inexplicable waking dreams of robins' eggs and red feathers? As this cryptic message becomes increasingly impossible to ignore, Jack is drawn back to the Territories and to his own hidden past, where he may find the soul-strength to enter a terrifying house and to face the obscene evils sheltered within it.

You Know Why

J.T. Ellison

It's the holidays, and photographer Brooklyn Locke is bound for Italy with her husband, Trey, and their two children. But when Trey vanishes from the airport, missing their connecting flight, their impromptu vacation – and life as she knows it – begins to unravel.

Desperate to find her husband, Brooklyn accepts help from a stranger on the same flight, Eden Barrow. But Eden soon makes a shocking claim. She is the sister of Trey's first wife, and ten years ago Trey was the main suspect in his first wife's murder.

As Brooklyn struggles to comprehend these accusations, fate delivers her one more blow: a violent accident that leaves her fighting for her life. With nowhere else to turn, Brooklyn leans on Eden for support. But each kindness feels too rehearsed, feeding her doubts about Eden's motives and Trey's true past.

Brooklyn has her own dark history and confronts an unsettling possibility. Her current life is not what it seems, and the situation just a trap – laid by someone waiting for the perfect time to strike.

The Black Wolf

A Chief Inspector Gamache Mystery #20
Louise Penny

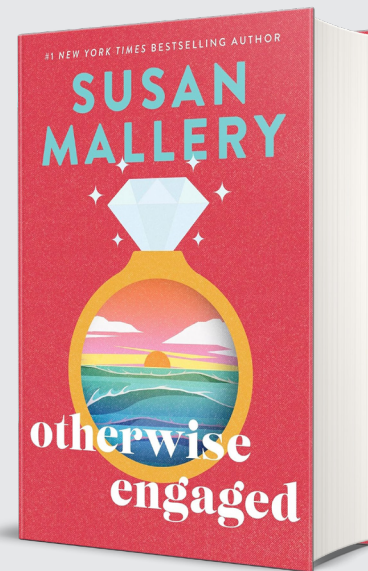

Several weeks ago, Chief Inspector Armand Gamache of the Sûreté du Québec and his team uncovered and stopped a domestic terrorist attack in Montréal, arresting the person behind it. A man they called the Black Wolf.

But their relief is short-lived. In a sickening turn of events, Gamache has realised that the plot, as horrific as it was, was just the beginning. Perhaps even a deliberate misdirection. Something deeper and darker, more damaging, is planned. Did he in fact arrest the Black Wolf, or are they still out there? Armand is appalled to think his mistake has allowed their conspiracy to grow, to gather supporters. To spread lies, manufacture enemies and feed hatred and division.

Gamache and his small team of supporters realise that for the Black Wolf to have gotten this far, they must have powerful allies, in law enforcement, in industry, in organised crime, in the halls of government.

From the apparent peace of his little village, Gamache finds himself playing a lethal game of cat-and-mouse with an invisible foe who is gathering forces and preparing to strike.

Story Telling

A Writing Life
Isabel Allende

In this deeply personal and insightful book, Isabel Allende delves into her creative process, reflecting on nearly half a century of writing that has captivated millions of readers worldwide.

For Allende, writing is more than a craft. It is an addiction, a means of preserving memory, and a way to make sense of life. She offers readers an intimate glimpse into her creative world, where stories take shape through intuition, discipline and deep connection to the human experience. It is also a glimpse into the life of a writer who views literature as a portal to understanding the chaos of life.

Story Telling is not a prescriptive guide to writing. Rather, it is a conversation. In it, Allende shares her triumphs, her mistakes and the lessons learned through the challenges and joys of writing. She intertwines her own stories with invaluable wisdom for anyone pursuing the craft, making this book equally a memoir, a master class in the alchemy of storytelling, and a celebration of the enduring power of narrative.
