House of Two Pharaohs

Ancient Egypt #10
Wilbur Smith & Mark Chadbourn

Since his appointment as Nomarch of Memphis, by the God-Pharaoh Rameses, Play has thrown himself into pulling the city back from the brink. The famous white city walls have been rebuilt, the once starving inhabitants fed and every day caravans have arrived from the desert wastes, filled with the many riches looted and hidden by the Hyksos. But when the body of a murdered scribe is found sealed inside the newly constructed city vault – the mark of Anubis, god of death, scrawled next to him in his own blood – panic sweeps the city. Only the wisest man in all Egypt can solve this mystery – Play's mentor, the great sage Taita.

Called from his place at the God-Pharaoh Rameses's side, Taita's arrival in Memphis calms the populace, but it isn't long before the mark of Anubis appears again, and again. Taita and Play are drawn into a battle of wits against a criminal mastermind turned warlord, his aim – with the demise of the Hyksos – to see the kingdom of the Red Pretender restored and the forces of Rameses crushed.

Steering the company through dizzying political and financial reversals, she became one of the world's first great businesswomen and one of the richest women of her time.
