Killing Mr Rent-A-Kill

The Life and Death of Notorious Hitman
Christopher Dale Flannery
Duncan McNab

Christopher Dale Flannery received his first criminal conviction at the age of 14. Within 20 years, he would become one of the most feared criminals in Australia, believed to be responsible for up to a dozen murders. His crimes would create a worldwide media storm and his disappearance would go on to become criminal legend.

This is the gripping biography of an underworld assassin who associated with some of Australia's most infamous felons and with many of the most powerful and corrupt police operating at the time. Exposing the double-crossings, brutal gangland wars and bloody reprisals of Sydney's dark underbelly, this is the true story of Mr Rent-A-Kill.

Duncan McNab is a former Sydney detective and private investigator turned journalist who brings an insider's perspective to one of the most intriguing unsolved cases of the last 30 years.

Bertie's Theory of Ice Cream

A 44 SCOTLAND STREET NOVEL

'It's like ice cream, Mr Flynn,' Bertie continued. 'When you have ice cream, you need to eat it straight away, otherwise it melts. If there are people who haven't got any, you should share it, if you can.'

When despair for the world grows, Bertie's theory of ice cream reminds us that it's the simple pleasures in life that we should hold onto. And everyone's favourite seven-year-old has a lot to put up with: at home, Irene is planning lessons on Irish Culture for Bertie; at school, he is forced to join Olive and Pansy's book group, and during a day out with his best friend Ranald Braveheart Macpherson, the boys find themselves unexpectedly invited to a wedding.

Meanwhile, Bruce's latest property venture goes horribly wrong after trying to move a flat's front door to give it a more prestigious address. At Nine Mile Burn, Matthew and the triplets try to adopt an unwillingly-vegan dog. And Sister Maria-Fiori dei Fiore Montagna discovers the missing part of the Stone of Scone in Drummond Place Gardens.

'McCall Smith's capacity to deliver quality new instalments is unrivalled by any other modern writer.'

Mary-Anne O'Connor

Norway, 1828. A fiery descendant of Vikings, Elsa Ferner wasn't termed Elsa the Determined by her father for no reason, so when her mother pushes her to marry a wealthy but unscrupulous man, she seizes the opportunity to stow away and escape. Now aboard The Starling with her ally, handsome English officer Thompson Smith, she chooses to trust her heart, following their shared destiny on the salted wind.

On arriving in Iceland, it seems the pair might finally explore the possibilities of a new life together. However, a rash and catastrophic act sees Thompson taken away in chains, with Elsa the one now fighting for their future, and leading them on to new frontiers. However, tragedy strikes, and Thompson chooses to stow away himself, this time to Tasmania, embittered yet resolved to find a new life with their son, Sven.

Little do they know that Elsa searches for them, even to the ends of the earth, never giving up on love ...

And Then There Was You

Miranda Dickinson

Two lonely people. One song to change their lives ...

Merryn Rowe adores her life in St Ives, Cornwall. The café she owns and the community she serves are her much-needed second chance after a heart-breaking divorce. But she begins to long for more.

Zach Trevelyan is not where he expected to be. His surfing career in tatters following an injury, he finds himself in St Ives without a home, a job or a path ahead.

When Merryn discovers an abandoned piano, it evokes memories of her much-loved and long-lost stepfather. Impulsively, she gives the piano a home at her café. And late one night, when a familiar song comes through her window, Merryn discovers a striking man huddled at the piano.

Who exactly is the midnight musician? And why can't she stop thinking about him ... and his beautiful melody?

TO HELL WITH LOVE

KATABASIS

Alice Law has only ever had one goal – to become one of the brightest minds in the field of Magick. She has sacrificed everything to make that a reality. All to work with Professor Jacob Grimes at Cambridge, the greatest magician in the world.

That is, until he dies in a magical accident that could possibly be her fault.

Grimes is now in Hell, and she's going in after him. Because his recommendation could hold her very future in his now incorporeal hands, and even death is not going to stop the pursuit of her dreams ...

Nor will the fact that her rival, Peter Murdoch, has come to the very same conclusion.

With nothing but the tales of Orpheus and Dante to guide them, enough chalk to draw the pentagrams necessary for their spells, and the burning desire to make all the academic trauma mean anything, they set off across Hell to save a man they don't even like.

'Katabasis is a formidable, timeless work, destined to be a modern classic.'

– Olivie Blake, New York Times bestselling author of The Atlas Six

'What an adventure! Katabasis is a tour de force – literate, witty and wise, it thrills and delights all the way to a hugely satisfying conclusion. I enjoyed it tremendously.'

Back from the Dead

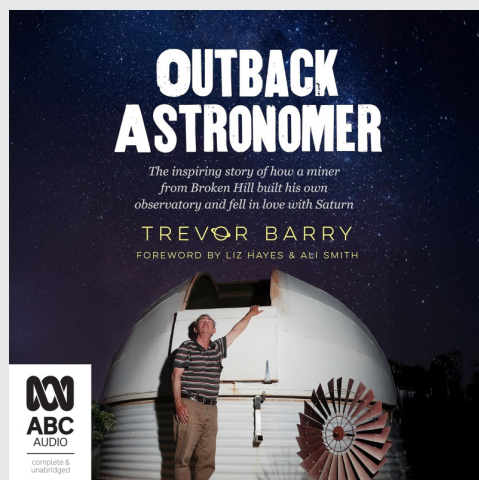

The Astonishing True Story of the Crew of the Blythe Star – and Survival in One of the Wildest Places on Earth
Mick Doleman & Piia Wirsu

The sinking of the coastal freighter the M.V. Blythe Star in 1973 sparked a very extensive sea and air search for survivors. The sinking left ten men in a tiny life raft at the mercy of the wild southern ocean off Tasmania – and once the search was called off, all were declared dead by the authorities.

Twelve days later, three ravaged and starving men, including 18-year-old Mick Doleman, were found wandering on a remote logging trail in a southern peninsula of Tasmania.

This is an extraordinary story of human endurance written by Piia Wirsu, the producer and narrator of 'From the Dead', the award-winning season of the ABC podcast Expanse, with Mick Doleman, now the only surviving crew member of the Blythe Star, who became a global influence in maritime safety.

Outback Astronomer

Trevor Barry, Liz Hayes & Ali Smith

Born and raised in remote Broken Hill, Trevor Barry left school after year ten to work in the mines. Years later, a single glimpse of Saturn through a colleague's telescope knocked Trevor's world completely off its axis, turning his whole life upside down.

With his newfound passion and armed with decades of outback know-how, Trevor set about building an observatory in his backyard using bits and pieces from his shed, a second-hand washing machine motor, rainwater tank parts and an old catamaran wire. Before long Trevor was not just gazing at the stars but capturing extraordinary images of the planets.

Over the years, Trevor's love affair with Saturn, 'the ringed jewel of the solar system', only grew more passionate, and in his early 50s he did a degree in astronomy, topping his class. When he recorded a massive storm on Saturn from his backyard observatory, he alerted NASA. The world's greatest space agency took note and invited Trevor to contribute to its interplanetary research – leading to opportunities far beyond Broken Hill and even Trevor's wildest dreams.
