Nash Falls

Walter Nash #1
David Baldacci

Walter Nash is a mild-mannered, happy and successful businessman with a loving family. He has never lifted a weight or fired a gun in anger, and he has no special physical or investigatory skills. The dark world is not a place he knows – until the FBI comes calling on the very day of his estranged Vietnam veteran father's funeral. They tell him that the company he works for is actually a criminal organisation. And they need his help in a risky endeavour to bring it all down.

In doing so, Nash's perfect world is destroyed. And in seeking justice and revenge, Nash must become someone else: a man of violence and physicality who must find traction and purpose in the same dark world that invaded and crushed everything near and dear to him. Can Walter Nash reinvent himself into a weapon of righteousness and justice? The odds are not with him.

But bet against Walter Nash at your peril ...

The Hawk is Dead

Roy Grace #21
Peter James

Her Majesty, Queen Camilla, is aboard the royal train heading to a charity event in Sussex when disaster strikes – the train is derailed. A tragic accident or a planned attack?

When, minutes later, a trusted aide is shot dead by a sniper, the police have their answer. Despite all the evidence, Roy Grace is not convinced the Queen was the intended target. But he finds himself alone in his suspicions.

Fighting against the scepticism of his colleagues and the Palace itself, Grace pursues his own investigation. But when there is a second murder, the stakes rise even higher, and Grace is at risk of being embroiled in a very public catastrophe – and in mortal danger.

Failure at this level is not an option. But time is running out before a killer in the Palace will strike again ...

Fallen City

Fallen City Duology #1
Adrienne Young

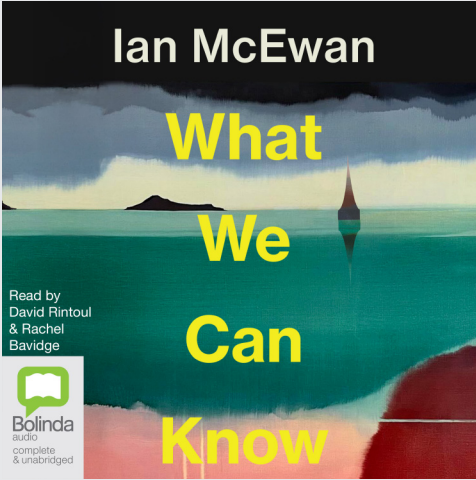

In the great walled city of Isara, political turmoil ignites a rebellion 100 years in the making. But when a legionnaire falls in love with a Magistrate's daughter, their love will threaten the fate of the city and the will of the gods.

Luca Matius has one purpose – to carry on the family name in the Forum once his cruel uncle dies. But his noviceship with the city's Philosopher places him in the middle of a catastrophe that will alter his people's destiny.

Maris Casperia, raised in the Citadel's inner workings, expects a lifetime of service to a corrupt city. But years as a novice to the last Priestess with stolen Old War magic have sparked a new vision.

As a secret comes to light and throws the city into chaos, Luca and Maris hatch a plot to create a calculated alliance that could tip the scales of power – until an execution turns Luca into a symbol of rebellion. On opposite sides of a holy war, they learn they are part of a story the gods are writing.

What We Can Know

Ian McEwan

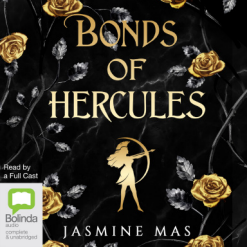

2014. A great poem is read aloud and never heard again. For generations, people speculate about its message, but no copy has yet been found.

2119. The lowlands of the UK have been submerged by rising seas. Those who survive are haunted by the richness of the world that has been lost.

Tom Metcalfe, an academic at the University of the South Downs, part of Britain's remaining island archipelagos, pores over the archives of that distant era, captivated by the freedoms and possibilities of human life at its zenith. When he stumbles across a clue that may lead to the lost poem, a story is revealed of entangled loves and a crime that destroys his assumptions about people he thought he knew intimately well.

What We Can Know is a masterpiece, a fictional tour de force that reclaims the present from our sense of looming catastrophe, and imagines a future world where all is not quite lost.

Sharpe's STORM

THE INTERNATIONAL BESTSELLING AUTHOR

If any man can do the impossible it's Richard Sharpe ...

The year is 1813. France is a battlefield, and winter shows no mercy. Amidst brutal conditions, Major Richard Sharpe finds himself saddled with an unexpected burden: Rear-Admiral Sir Joel Chase, dispatched by the Admiralty with sealed orders, unshakable confidence and a frankly terrifying enthusiasm for combat.

Sharpe's mission from Wellington is clear, but anything but simple – keep Sir Joel alive.

Sir Joel could hold the key to defeating Napoleon once and for all. But to pull off his audacious plan, he needs someone who knows how to fight dirty, think fast and survive the impossible.

He needs Sharpe ...

'As Britain prepares to invade France, Richard Sharpe braces himself to face his most brutal opponent yet in this riveting addition to Cornwell's bestselling series set during the Napoleonic Wars.'

– Waterstones

'With fully fleshed-out characters and keen human insight, Cornwell just keeps getting better. His faithful will be left hoping Sharpe goes on forever.'

– Publisher's Weekly

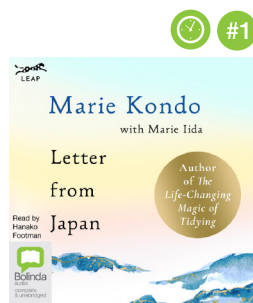

'As usual, this is historical fiction on a grand scale, a period-piece thriller that will enrapture fans of the long-running series.'

A Secret in Tuscany

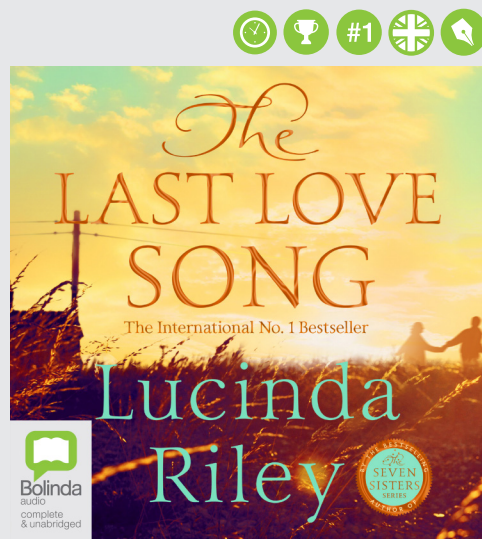

Alan Hlad

Italy, 1943. With war blazing through Europe, nowhere is safe – not even the remote hills of the Tuscan countryside where Italian partisans risk their lives to provide Jewish refugees with an escape route to Switzerland. Gianna Conti joins them after her brother Matteo's death at the hands of German soldiers.

While delivering weapons and intelligence, Gianna meets Tazio Napoli, an American working undercover for the Office of Strategic Services. Despite the growing danger, they conduct high-risk missions together to sabotage German operations – and encrypt secret messages to each other while apart.

As the Allies steadily fight their way toward Florence, the occupying Germans grow more desperate, leading to a shocking act of vengeance. Gianna's fate will rest upon her cunning, her resilience and her willingness to keep hope alive, even through the decades that follow ...

Sorcha O'Donovan dreams of an exciting life beyond the West Cork coastline where she has grown up. When she encounters the town's strikingly handsome outcast, struggling musician Con Daly, her days will never be the same.

When Con strikes gold with rock band The Fishermen in London, he and Sorcha look set for a rosy future. But their lives change beyond recognition as the dark side of fame rears its head. Death threats follow Con around, and devastating secrets from the past threaten to destroy everything he has worked for.

Twenty years later, and The Fishermen agree to reform for the massive 'Music for Life' charity concert at Wembley stadium. But Con Daly, heartthrob and spokesman for a generation, has been missing for over a decade.

There's only one person who can find out what happened, who has access to the lives, loves and careers of all concerned as The Fishermen rose to worldwide fame. Only one person who knows how vital it is to uncover the truth, because should Con Daly reappear before the facts emerge, then history could repeat itself with even more tragic consequences.

HEATHER
MORRIS

Teenager Jesse loves her friends, her little brother and her parents. She also loves playing interactive computer games from her hospital bed in the children's cancer ward.

When Jesse is offered the chance to have her greatest wish fulfilled, she immediately knows what she wants: a digital 3D recreation of her life – something for her friends and family to watch and relive ... perhaps without her.

There is only one person with the technical skills and creativity to make this happen – the highly talented but reclusive Alex, a visionary 3D CGI video/games designer. Unlike Jesse, Alex doesn't love a lot of things. To be honest, he's not really sure he knows how to. He's in his late 20s, but his troubled past has left him wary of forming any kind of emotional relationship.

But when he enters Jesse's world, his journey towards connection begins. A beautiful and unexpected friendship blossoms between the desperately ill teenager and the isolated young man, changing both of their lives – and those of the people around them – forever.
